BRAVE SOLDIER ANSWERS CALL

Major John W. Johnston Passed Away Sunday Night.

OF USEFULNESS

Had Done Much for the Materia Advancement of the South.

Major John W. Johnston, a prominent Confederate veteran, who did much since the war for the development of the South, died at 10 P. M. Sunday a his residence, No. 113 East Grace Street failing, health, and the end, none the less dreaded, was not unexpected. His children were at his bedside during the last hours; and the sympathy of the nunity will go out to them.

Major Johnston was born at Buchanan Botelourt county, Va., on the 6th of July, 1839, and was, therefore, nearly sixty-six years of age. He was a zon o John Nash Johnston, of Botetourt coun John Nash Johnston, of Botetourt county, and the grandson of Edward Johnston, and was related to General Joseph E. Johnston and the late United States Senator J. W. Johnston and to others of that distinguished family. His childhood, youth and early manhood were spent in his native county, on the banks of the Upper James.

Major Johnston, as he afterwards became, had just attained his majority

Major Johnsion, as he afterwards became, had just attained his majority when the great struggle for the independence of the Southern States began, and with all the ardor of his temperament he embraced the cause of his native State and of the South, enlisting in a company, of the Twenty-eighth Virginia Regiment, afterwards Anderson's battery of light artillery, May 15, 1861, and was made second lieutenant and afterwards promoted to first lieutenant. A little later he was made captain of the company. He then became connected with the Botetourt Light, Artillery, of which he was captain. This battery was ordered to the far South, and thereafter the young artillerist served to the close of the war in Mississippi and Tennessee and other Southern States.

Was Before Vicksburg.

Was Before Vicksburg.

of the war in Mississippi and Tennessee and other Southern States.

Was Before Vicksburg.

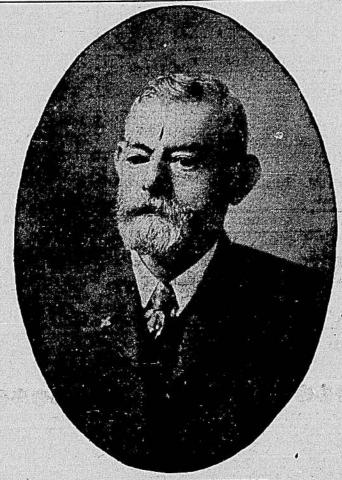

The merits of the young officer and his zeal for the cause soon resulted in his selection as captain and inspector-general of artillery on the staff of Major-General C. L. Stevenson, and he saw service in the various battles in which that command was engaged. He was on duty in the defense of Vicksburg during May, June and July, 1823. Thereafter he was promoted to major, commanding Johnston's hattalien of light artillery, attached to the Army of Tennessee. He served in the campaigns in Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia with conspicuous fidelity and galiantry, and continued the struggle until after the surrender at Appomattox, and did not himself surrender until May 1, 1855, when he was paroled at Greensboro, N. C., along with the remnant of his command. Few men in the Confederate service devoted themselves to its cause for a longer period than did Major Johnston, whose service was three years, eleven and a half months, or from May 15, 1861, until May 1, 1865. Before he was twenty-six years of age he had attained the rank of major of artillery, and had held many responsible positions in the service.

Major Johnston held the presidency of the James River and Kanawha Canal Company from 1877 to 1889, and also that of the Buchanan and Clifton Forge Railway Company, and in the years 1880 and 1881 he was resident counsel in the State of Virginia for the Richmond and Alleghany Railroad Company. After that he became extensively engaged in railroad Company in 1831-2. In the latter year he was made president of the Richmond and Johnston held the president and general manager of the Richmond and Say he was fourth vice-president and later third vice-president of the Georgia Pacific Railroad Company, and served in that capacity until 1889. From 1889 to 1892 he was fourth vice-president and later third vice-president of the Georgia Pacific Railroad Company.

Major Johnston had begun his legal education at the famous law school young soldier devoted himself to the study of law and began the practice of his profession in his native county. His abilities and his energy soon brought him to the front not only at the bar, but in public life, being elected to the Senate of Virginia. He served two or three terms in that body and took high rank twong the brilliant men composing it at among the brilliant men composing it at

MAJOR JOHN W. JOHNSTON, Gallant Confederate Soldier, Who Answered Last Roll Call Sunday Night

The Old Reliable Remedy for all 'women's pains and ills, which regulates the menstrual functions, relieves and cures headache, backache, dragging-down sensations, dizziness, leucorrhea, and female disorders of every form and degree, is Wine of Cardui. It will purify your blood, tone up your nerves, brighten your eyes and complexion, and strengthen your constitution. For over 60 years has been the stand-by of many a home, where it has been successfully used to relieve female pains and to build up the

It has won for itself a reputation for merit and success, which no other medicine can duplicate.

CARDUI Woman's Strengthening Medicine

In his military career Major Johnston was commissioned second fleutenant of infantry, and in December, 1861, he entered the artillery service as first fleutenant of Anderson's Battery, afterwards the Belterust Arillary and become its tenant of Anderson's Battery, afterwards the Botetourt Artillery, and became its captain in January, 1863. In July of that year he became captain and inspector-general of artillery on the staff of Major-General C. L. Stevenson, and in March, 1864, he was made major of artillery of the provisional army of the Confederate States. In April, 1865, he took command of Johnston's battallon of light artillery. During his career he participated in the first battle of Manassas, the battle at Tazewell, Tenn.; the slege of Cumberland Gap, at Port Gibson of Bayou Piere, Miss.; at Baker's Creek, Miss.; at the slege of Vicksburg; then successively at the battles of Dalton, Tifton and Resaca, Gap, at Port Gibson of Bayou Pierre, Tenn., and at Salisbury, N. C., two days after Lee's surrender.

elected president of the James River and canal Company, in which he was a large stockholder, and continued in that capacity for some years. About 1878 for 1879, he removed to New York city and engaged in business there for some years. In the early 80's he removed from New York to Birmingham. Ala., and was prominent in the development of that "Pittsburg of the South." engaging in the iron industry and in railroad enterprises.

In his military career Major Johnston was commissioned second lieutenant of was commissioned second lieutenant of the factoric and in December, 1861, he encould do to recuperate it, he steadily failed.

Builded a Monument.

Major Johnston's zeal as a Confederate soldier never diminished as he advanced in age, but rather increased. He was president of the Botetrout Artillery Monument Association, organized in February, 1892, and was chiefly instruof law and began the practice of his prodesion in his native county. His abilities and his energy soon brought him to the front not only at the bar, but in
to the front not only at the bar, but in
to the front not only at the bar, but in
to the front not only at the bar, but in to the front had began the practice of Manassas, the battle of Manassas, the battle at first battle of Manassas, the battle at fazewell, Tenn.; the slege of Cumberland Gap, at Port Gibson of Bayou Piere,
that time.

President of Canal Company.

In the early 70's Major Johnston was

States. In April, 1805, he took command of Johnston's battalion of light artillery.

During his career he participated in the first battle of Manassas, the battle at Tazewell, Tenn.; the slege of Cumberland
Gap, at Port Gibson of Bayou Piere,
that time.

President of Canal Company.

In the early 70's Major Johnston was

States. In April, 1805, he took command
of Johnston's battalion of light artillery.

During his career he participated in the first battle of Manassas, the battle at
Tazewell, Tenn.; the slege of Cumberland
Gap, at Port Gibson of Bayou Piere,
that time.

President of Canal Company.

In the early 70's Major Johnston was

In his business career he was Buchanan, Major Johnston's old home. It cost about $1,500.

Major Johnston Immediately upon making his home in Richmond was recommended for membership in Lee Camp by Judge George L. Christian and elected promptly. He was one of the most enthustastic and active members of that organization, and one of the readlest and most generous contributors to every movement or enterprise undertaken by it. Only a few months ago the camp, over his protest, honored him by electing him its commander. Actuated by that high sense of justice that characterized him through life, he refused to hold the office nominally, when, owing to his ill health and his determination to go South for his health, he was unable to give the camp the active service to which he thought it was entitled. He thereupon resigned, though urged not to do so, and a successor wa elected. A few days later he left with his family for Nassau, New Providence, in the Bahama group, and spent about tw. months there, returning to this city it April, but little improved in bealth.

A sufferer from Bright's disease, Major Johnston has been unable to devote himself actively to anything since his return, though he has been up and about until four or five days ago. One of his last public appearances was at the funeral of General Flizhugh Lee, of whom he was a great admirer and warm friend. The excitament and fattigue incident to this occasion in the opinion of some of his Iriends served to hasten the end of his long and honorable and useful life.

Major Johnston is survived by a brother. Andrew Johnston, of Birmingham, Ala., and by a sister, Mrs. Hutton, of the same place. He was married just after the war to Miss Alexander, of Botetourt courty, who died several years ago. Their surviving children are Miss Mary Johnston, a well known novelist and story writer and sunder of Virginia history, Miss Eloise Johnston, Mr. John A. Johnston, of New York; Mr. Walter Johnston, of this city, and Miss Elizabeth Johnston, of his bon, in Philadelphia. All of them were with him in his la nade friends readily and was always to them. He was a devoted husband and father and had formed large number of The Funeral To-day.

The funeral sarvices will take place from the First Baptist Church at 4 o'clock this (Tuesday) afternoon, the Rev. Dr. McDaniel conducting the ser-

The active and honorary pall-bearers

The active and honorary pan-searcs are:
Active—Messrs. Wheelwright, Patterson, J. Stewart Bryan, John Rutherfoord, Aylett, John M. Miller, Pelham Blackford, Joseph B. Johnston.
Honorary—Major W. A. Anderson, Mr. Joseph Bryan, Judge George L. Christian, Mr. J. Taylor Ellyson, Dr. George Ben. Johnston, Colonel W. E. Cutshaw, Rev. Dr. J. P. Smith, Mr. Thomas M. Rutherfoord, Rev. J. William Jones, D. D., Mr. F. T. Glasgow, Mr. O. R. Morgan, Rev. L. R. Mason, D. D., Colonel Archer Anderson, Colonel W. H. Eckert, Mr. John G. Martin, Mr. E. J. Bosher, Mr. Thomas Ellett, Dr. Christopher Tompkins.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Milton Cayce. Mrs. Milton Cayce, & years af age, died yesterday morning abour nine o'clock while at the breakfast table at her home on Grove Road. She had been in the best of health and her death wa a shock to her relatives and friends. She was a Miss Frankin and first married a Mr. Hall, of Lynchurg to-day for interment.

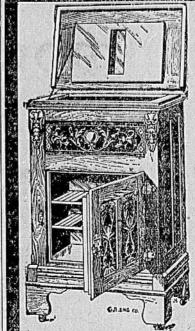

James M. Cottom.

Saturday of heart disease, was held today.

Mr. Miller was reading a newspaper when stricken, and death occurred before the arrival of a physician. Mr.
Miller came to St. Louis in 1851 and entered a banking establishment. At the outbreak of the Civil War he entered the Confederate army, serving until its close, when he returned to St. Louis.

He hater became interested in th St.
Louis Mutual Life Insurance Company, remaining with it until its dissolution.

He murried Miss Mary Gamble, daughter of the late Governor Hamilton Gamble, in 1885. He is survived by Mrs. Miller and four children, Mrsses Calline, Edith and Constance Miller, and Mrs.
J. M. Woods.

tion. For the same bulk cold air is heavier than warm air, therefore as the ice is on top, naturally the cold air drops over the food in the provision chamber, and as it is warmed by contact with the food, it rises to the ice chamber again, where it is cooled and the moisture extracted from it, whence it goes back to the provision chamber again and so on.

The Alaska is constructed strictly according to the best scientific principles, and is guaranteed to be packed with pure charcoal and Grocers', butchers' and family sizes in stock.

Sole Agents for the Past Fifteen Years.

419,421 EAST BROAD ST.

. SPECIALS .

Was Judge in North Carolina During Stormy Days of Ku-Klux Klan.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BORDEAUX, May 22.—Judga Ablon
W. Tourgee, of Mayville, N. Y., American Consul-General here, died yesterday morning of neute uraemia, which resulted from an old wound.

suited from an old wound.

Judge Tourgee was taken sériously ill several months ago, but his condition afterwards improved, and it was believed his recovery was probable. Recently, however, the disease took another sericust turn, and Judge. Tourgee lingered ous turn, and Judge Tourgee lingered until yesterday morning.

Born in Williamsfield, Ashtabula coun-

James M. Cottom.

James M. Cottom.

Mr. James M. Cottom, of Fulton, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John F. O'Grady, on Louisiana. Street, Sunday morning at 1:20 o'clock. He was one of the oldest and best known citizens of Fulton and had many frends throughout the city. He was also one of the largest men in Richmond. He was a Confederate soldier. Two daughters, Mrs. John F. O'Grady and Mrs. Fred H. Garber, of O'Grady and An employe of the Flanker H. Garber, of O'Grady and An employe of the Flanker H. Garber, of O'Grady and An employe of the Flanker H. Garber, of O'Grady and An employe of the Flanker H. Garber, of O'Grady and An employe of the Flanker H. Garber, of O'Grady and An employe of the Flanker H. Garber, of O'Grady and An employe of the Flanker H. Garber, of O' position, he was elected in a Joseph the Superior Court of the State. For six years he filled this office. At the time of his election the notorious "Ku-Klux-Klan" society was organized. Judge Tourgee was active in its suppression. During the five year it took to break up the society he was always in peril of his life. One of the fill suppression. During the five year it took to break up the society he demonstrations in the district very which Judge Tourgee presided were numerous. The young Judge never paused in his battles with the community which supported the band of nogro terrifers. He fought them relentlessly and travelled through his district without a guard of any kind, in splie of the county to the Constitutional Convention of his State. Taking office as penision agent in 1856, under General Grant, he held the position for two years in 1874 he began his career as guardor of the constitutional Convention of his State. Taking office as penision agent in 1856, under General Grant, he held the position for two years. In 1874 he began his career as for the constitutional Convention of his State. Taking office as penision agent in 1856, under General Grant, he held the position for two years. In 1874 he began his career as the constitution of the position of the years of Cled Cases," published in 1878, was said to be without its like.

Among Judge Tourgee's works were: "Appeal to Caesar," 1884; "Black Ice," 1891; "Frie Grand," "Figs and Thistley," 1879; "Bricks Without Straw," 1889; "John Eax," 1882; "Hot Plowshares," 1883; "An Appeal to Caesar," 1884; "Black Ice," 1891; "Yeteran and His Pipe," 1888; "Lotters to a King," "With Gauge and Swallow," 1898; "Prectolus Prime," "Murville Eagstman, Christian Advocate," 1899; "John Eax," "Yeteran and His Pipe," 1888; "Lotters to a King," "With Gauge and Swallow," 1898; "Prectolus Prime," "Murville Eagstman, Christian Advocate," 1899; "John Or the Sunset Sea," 1892; "An Outne, of the Sunset Sea," 1892; "An Outne, of the Sunset Sea," 1892; "Hot Ore, he consuled menal an

DEATHS.

JOHNSTON.—Died, at his residence, No. 118 East Main Street, Sunday, May 21, at 10:15 P. M., Major JOHN, W. JOHN-STON.
The funeral services will be held of The funeral services will be held at the First Baptist Church at 4 P. M. TO-DAY (Tuesday), May 23d.

SPENCER.—Died, at the residence of his inother, Mrs. G. F. West, May 21, 1805, EDWARD C. SPENCER, aged twenty-eight years.
Funeral will be held from the residence, 303 South Laurel Street, Trils (Tuesday) MORNING at 11 o'clock, Interment at Biver view Cemetery.

A LIST OF "HARD-DRINKERS", OF BEAUFONT=

to PREACHERS (who believe in setting good examples)

10 PREACHERS (who believe in setting good examples),
25 DOCTORS (dally prescribing it),
40 LAWYERS (who will swear by it),
Numerous Corporations (who want healthy employes),
Scores of Merchants (with good business sense),
Hundreds of Clerks (who know a good thing),
Thousands of Sensible Women (who value their health),
The 4 leading Banks of Richmond—Planters, Merchants, American and itlonal.

National.

The C. & O. Rallway office force (who have to work hard and want only the best to drink),

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY of Virginia (The greatest Southern life Insurance company),

THE LONGER YOU LIVE—THE BETTER THEY LIKE IT.
They value long life and good health and furnish their Clerks with BEAU-

We are complling a list of the sensible people in Richmond and want you Beaufont Lithia Water Co.

Bosher Carriage

them unique. Their graceful lines, their character and distinctive ness make them conspicuous among any other vehicles.

Our BOULEVARD TRAPS and BUCKBOARDS

Something Just Out.

LARGEST STOCK OF NOVELITIES IN THE CITY.

REPAIRING and REPAINTING. Agents for Bailey Runabouts and Frazier Carts

R. H. BOSHER'S SONS, 15 South Ninth Street.

Have Your Shirts, Collars & Cuffs. Done Right.

Don't put up with inferior work when it is so easy to 'phone or postal us. We call anywhere from Home Place to Fulton. We use nothing but soring water. Agents wanted in and out of Rich-

VIRGINIA STEAM LAUNDRY. 1406 TO 1410 NORTH SECOND ST

Why Not incorporate Your Business in Virginia?

Laws more liberal—

Than in other incorporating States.

Write to us for information as to costs, and provisions of the law, in Virginia as compared with other States.

VIRGINIA CORPORATION CO. Inc. American National Bank Building, Richmond, Va.

Americal Rativial Dalla Dullutig, Rivindout, Va.
Officers—J. D. Patton. President; E. B. Sydnor, Vice-President; A. B. Alsop, Secretary; Waller Holladay, Treasuror; Judge Wm. J. Leake, Advisory Counsel; Irving E. Campbell, General Counsel; Geo. C. Gregory, General Manager, Directors—J. D. Patton, Wm. L. Royall, IB, B. Sydnor, Henry W. Wood, J. Allison Hodges, Irving E. Campbell, John Gibson, Jr.

The Virginia State

Insurance Company

Have removed their offices to their NEW BUILDING,

Main and Fifth Streets.

Telephone 289.

WRITE US A LETTER freely and frankly, in strictest confidence, telling us free advice (in plain sealed envelope). Address: Ladles' Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

systems of several generations of members of the family.

Sold in $1.00 bottles at every drug store. Try it.

"I GIVE MY WIFE Cardui," writes Dr. O. P. Walker, of Motz, Ark., I use it in my practice and recommend it to my patients and unhesitatingly say that it is all that you claim for it, in female diseases.